

Academic English for International Research Seminar COURSE DESCRIPTION

The goal of this course is to help doctoral candidates develop the necessary skills to conduct and communicate their research in English. The seminar will be divided into two parts:

-One half of the seminar will focus on the following skills:

- introducing yourself in a professional environment
- how to write a short biography and a research description
- presenting a research project
- writing a CV/résumé
- answering a call for papers and submitting an abstract
- writing an article
- preparing an article for publication: generating a title and a list of key words
- knowing the different styles (MLA, Chicago etc.) and formatting a paper
- applying for a position at a university
- preparing for a job interview

Students will also work on their language skills.

-The other half of the class will focus on the students' research projects. Students will present their work during presentations (15 to 20 minutes) which will be followed by questions from the group, as in an actual conference, and by language corrections from the teacher.
